

GCPS Progress Report
April, 2015

- After the March meeting I emailed Jon the following:
  - o Information regarding GPR which we had hoped to have done in 2010;
  - o A link to the Chinese bones video and a copy of the email Bob and I sent to Dan Ashton regarding this;
  - o A link to the gold prospecting book with the article about Granite Creek.

- I also sent Ole a link to the Chinese bones video for the GCPS website if he thinks it is appropriate. It is quite an interesting video.

- I did a cut and paste of the obituary of Ed Cook. He was the only son of F.P. Cook. His obituary talks quite a bit about Granite Creek so I thought it would be appropriate to include on the GCPS website and Ole has kindly posted it. Thank you Ole. I have brought a copy of it for everyone to see.

- I have been working on compiling newspaper reports from the Colonist Newspaper from 1885. I have completed it and sent them to Ole for the website. My goal is to do a word document of Granite Creek articles for each year.

- The new Vallance grave marker has replaced the misspelled marker at the Granite Creek Cemetery. Bob moved some downed branches and I swept off the headstones. There are many daffodils, some tulips and some grape hyacinths poking up. The Rice fence has still not been repaired, but I don't feel it is something we should deal with as it is a private plot with family that lives nearby.
